ITEA2 the 8th Call

ITEA 2, the follow-up to the successful ITEA programme, is a strategic pan-European programme. It stimulates and supports innovative and pre-competitive R&D projects that contribute research excellence to European industry in Software-intensive Systems and Services (SiSS). Our ambition is to mobilise a total of 20,000 person-years over the full eight-year period of the programme.

ITEA 2 offers once a year the opportunity to submit research project proposals in the domain of Software-intensive Systems and Services. For this purpose, a Call is organised each year starting with a two-day networking event. As a EUREKA Cluster programme, our approach is intergovernmental, bottom up and industry driven. ITEA 2 is open to partners from large industrial companies and SMEs, research institutes and universities, as well as profit and non-profit user organisations. Partners participating in ITEA 2 labelled projects can be supported by their national Public Authorities with national public funding.

Call for the expression of interest – Towards European Strategic Cluster Partnerships

This call is addressed to cluster, network organisations from CIP participating countries interested in intensifying cluster, network collaboration across borders, sectoral boundaries leading to "European Strategic Cluster Partnerships".

These partnerships shall (1) contribute to the emergence of new value chains that bring together in an innovative way companies from different sectors and (2) better support SMEs in global competition, in addition, they may (3) also offer at large scale innovative solutions to better address societal challenges, such as global warming, resource efficiency.

The rationale behind the European Strategic Cluster Partnerships is that these challenges are too big to be shouldered by individual clusters or networks alone. The earlier this is understood by cluster and network managers, the better.

Please refer to <http://www.clustercollaboration.eu> for further details.

One single market with one single patent: the unitary patent

The Council & the EU Parliament gave their political confirmation on the “patent package” proposed by the EC, putting an end in the discussions initiated in the 70s. The “patent package” includes agreements on the creation of a EU Patent with unitary effect (called as Unitary Patent), the language system to be used, on the Unified Patent Court, the responsible court for the litigation procedures. Information about all the National IP Offices in the EU: <http://www.innovaccess.eu> .

EU Unitary Patent: a big boost for innovation

The Council of the EU gave its green light to the creation of unitary patent protection in EU on the 17th of December 2012. The approval comes following a positive vote in the European Parliament on the 11th of December 2012, approving three measures collectively known as the “EU Unitary Patent Package”.

The new patent will encourage businesses to promote their innovation activity, thus enhancing their competitiveness. It will also increase the interest of EU companies in protecting their inventions, new technical solutions across EU, will lower the costs associated with obtaining a patent in the EU. The unitary patent will be valid in all participating Member States.

Research

Horizon 2020 budget cut by over 12%

A predicted cut to EU’s research programme, Horizon 2020, occurred as the final budget figures were released by the European Council in Brussels. The budget has been reduced by over 12% according to the meeting’s final conclusions. The final figures announced in the research section of the EU’s budget were very similar to the draft conclusions released in the early hours of the morning. The ‘Competitiveness for Growth and Jobs’ section which encompasses Horizon 2020 been given a reduced budget of €125.6bn.

ScienceCalling.com analysed the draft conclusions (see post) and predicted the Horizon 2020 budget would be reduced to €70.3bn. A breakdown of Horizon 2020’s budget is not stated in the final conclusions document (.pdf) but according to Nature.com, the new figure approved by the European Council is €69.24 bn. The original Horizon 2020 budget detailed on the EU’s website was €79.2bn.

Scientists and policy makers had been campaigning to prevent this reduction over the past number of months. Though the outcomes of this cut have yet to emerge, this will be worrying news for researchers in Ireland relying on EU funding due to our own science budget cutbacks.

Policy

Why Bother about Innovation Strategy as SMEs?

There is discussion about how much effort should be put into developing an innovation strategy especially by small and medium-sized companies (SMEs). Aren't many successful innovative offerings just a result of trial, error and finally good luck? Insights in more than 1,500 SMEs from the IMP³rove database demonstrate that strategic focus helps secure profitable growth by innovation.

The International Network for SMEs \(INSME\) aims at promoting the internationalization of national innovation systems. Our network encourages and facilitates transnational cooperation among innovation stakeholders worldwide, with a view to fostering SMEs' access to existing knowledge. The Meeting is a perfect place to take stock of the main Network achievements, to increase knowledge sharing among members by learning from other members' experiences, from their case studies, to encourage and accelerate cross border cooperation activities on a voluntary basis among them.

The Meeting is much more than this: for all innovation stakeholders, practitioners, policy makers, international organizations, academic experts, financial actors, business intermediaries, knowledge networks it represents a perfect occasion to meet the right players, to discuss most relevant topics, to identify the right partners, clients, investors for future activities as marketing proper services, projects, ideas by reaching the appropriate professional audience.
